GLENDALE REALTY

Increased Sales and Many Inquiries—Big Project Launched

The revival of business in real estate for which we have been looking for some weeks past, seems at last to have set in. As will be noticed by the report below there have been a number of sales recently and the report is very incomplete. The most encouraging feature of these sales generally is the fact that the purchasers as a rule are buying for homes and the indications are that the new buildings to be started within the next month will be ahead of past records. The report of the building inspector which appears below, shows a gratifying increase over a year ago, even when the two new brick business blocks just started are excluded.

BUILDING PERMITS.

During the month there were issued 14 building permits from the office of the building inspector, amounting to $36,460.00, against $6575.00 for same month last year. The principal buildings are:

Lot 11, block 3, of Glendale Orange Grove tract, sold to H. M. Goss for $525.

Lot on Third street east of Adams sold to Charlotte Perrigo for $640.00.

There are many strangers looking at Glendale property.

C. E. Stanley has sold lot 8, block 13, on Everett street near Fourth to E. E. Andross, price $600. Mr. Andross will build.

Also an acre on Tenth street near Adams to Miss Bower for $2300.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN THE VERDUGO RANCH PROPERTY.

When the old Verdugo ranch property went out of the hands of the Verdugo family, some two years ago, it passed into the hands of a company of which Mr. John A. Pirtle, a well-known banker and business man of Los Angeles, was one of the most prominent members. This company had very ambitious plans for the development of that fine property. One of the most prominent landscape gardners on the coast devoted considerable time in planning for this attractive nature spot a number of unique features which would have made it one of the most prominent pleasure grounds in this section of the state. Unfortunately for the community the plans were not carried into effect, owing, we understand, to the fact that a certain railroad magnate who was depended upon to do certain things in the way of furnishing railroad facilities for the property did not make good his promises.

Recent changes in the composition of the company have been made, we understand, and it is rumored that something tangible in regard to an electric railroad to the property is now developing which will result in the rapid development of this fine property although not possibly according to the original plans of the company. Mr. Pirtle still retains his interest and will devote more time than heretofore to the property. There is associated with him, we understand, a capitalist who is expected to begin very soon the erection of as many as a score of houses upon villa lots in the park, ranging in price from $2500 to $4000.

In connection with this work of development, Mr. Pirtle with Messrs. D. Griswold of Tropico and Hugh Glassell of Los Angeles, has organized the Consolidated Water company which means a consolidation of all the water rights and interests of these parties, not only in the water of Verdugo Canyon and the wells controlled by Messrs. Griswold and Glassell in Tropico and Glendale, but in Eagle Rock valley as well, where Mr. Glassell has large ownership in water. This makes a strong combination, capable of doing much for the upbuilding of this section.

Interested parties in La Canada and Glendale, probably to some extent working in harmony with the company named above, are taking steps to form a company for the purpose of building a railroad connecting La Canada with the Glendale electric roads. The plans of the parties controlling the Verdugo ranch include also a boulevard 110 feet in width, running the whole length of their property approximately paralleling the present county road, and connecting La Canada and Crescenta with Glendale through the property of Judge Ross and others. This latter improvement alone would be of incaluable benefit to the La Crescenta, La Canada and Glendale settlements, and we hope that it will be pushed to a successful issue in a very short time, as well as the other propositions outlined above.

A communication was received from the trustees of the city of Lodi calling attention to proposed legislation at Sacramento thought to be detrimental to cities of the sixth class. City attorney was requested to draft a resolution to be sent to our representative in the legislature, protesting against its passage.

Bids for the improvement of Kenwood street from First to Sixth streets were opened and declared as follows:

E. A. McCombs, oiling, 1½c; grading, 13c; curb, 20c; sidewalk, 7c.

Bids for improvement of Isabel street from First street to Fifth street, were opened and declared as follows:

E. A. McCombs, oiling, 1½c; grading, 13c; curb, 20c; sidewalk 7c.

Lapp Gifford & Co., oiling, 1½c; grading, 10c; curb, 20c; sidewalk, 7c.

Both were referred to city engineer to report at next meeting. Committee on water proofing vault reported that material would cost about eleven dollars and were instructed to attend to same.

Committee on electric lighting plant recommended that city attorney be instructed to draw up necessary papers for calling an election for the purpose of voting on a bond issue of $60,000 to acquire a municipal electric lighting plant. Recommendation was adopted and city attorney so instructed.

Trustee Blackburn offered a resolution, which was adopted, ordering certain street work to be done on Glendale avenue. Trustee Anderson offered a resolution designating the variety of shade trees (Black Acacia), to be planted on Fifth street between Adams and Verdugo Road. Same was adopted. An ordinance providing for the inspection of all gas pipes and fittings and providing regulations controlling same, was read first and second times and referred to building and ordinance committee.

The street superintendent was instructed to place the three upper stations on the railway line on Brand boulevard, in the parkways of intersecting streets.

NOTICE!

David MacDonald, the expressman, wishes us to state that orders for him should NOT be sent to the Glendale Stables. Patrons will please bear this in mind and leave all orders at the P. E. depot, or at his residence, 412 Isabel street.

E. D. GOODE RESIGNS

Writes a Breezy Letter to the Board of Supervisors

Glendale, Cal., Jan. 29, 1909.

To Honorable Board of Supervisors.

I hereby resign the position of Road Foreman of Los Angeles Road District, and sincerely thank the past and present members of the Board of Supervisors for the many courtesies extended, and I earnestly hope my successor will not be disappointed in any of his expectations of pleasing all the people all the time, and to insure his success in this particular I will offer him a few suggestions which may in some small degree prove beneficial.

He must be able at all times and under all circumstances and conditions to make the storm water run up hill in order to keep it off the other fellow, and sometimes in order to make it entirely satisfactory to all concerned, he must be able to make it run down hill on one side of the road and up hill on the other. He must carry a pick and shovel with him at all times, even if he should be attending some social function, also several lanterns, because he is sure to meet some one who wants something fixed, or else they have no lantern—so it will be up to the foreman to leave the festivities and hike with a light, or the county might have a damage suit. You must at all times wear overalls and a jumper, and avoid flowers or other decorations, or you will be called a grafter. It is allowable, however, to have a dollar watch, which must be suspended from your waist by means of a piece of baling wire, with the price plainly marked so that he who runs may read. There are more than two hundred miles of recorded county roads in this district and there is a half cent per front foot each year to construct, repair, sprinkle and otherwise maintain them, so there is no reasonable excuse whatever for not keeping all roads in perfect condition.

Be careful to never have any troubles of your own, other people will furnish you a liberal supply without extra charge.

You must lend the county fools to whoever makes application for them, whether you need to use them or not, because the applicant is a taxpayer and says he has a right to them; when he gets through his work, he will let you have them again when you send a team. If you should have, or offer an excuse for not immediately complying with his request, he will report you to the Supervisors. If the Supervisors stand by you, then he will report you all to the Grand Jury or threaten you with a recall petition.

In the winter time you must positively keep the mud from all roads, and in the good old sunimer time you must keep the dust from collecting anywhere, and where chickens, geese and ducks seek pasture on any of the roads under your jurisdiction, you must have a mall follow them closely with a garbage can, for you will find people very particular about some things.

You must never under any circumstances put one of your own teams on county work even in an emergency, for some of your neighbors will be glad to do the work when he gets ready; and you must above all things cultivate patience—that will allow you to wait.

You will find that many people are willing and even anxious to deed to the county, land for road purposes without money and without price, and you must accept such a generous gift, although the land will in most places be in the bottom of a canyon that a burro could not navigate; but if you finally do climb to the end of it you will usually find a fellow living in a tent, and after he is so generous as to deed you his valuable strip for road purposes he will howl day and night until you improve it. You will soon become so accustomed to this that you will comply without protest.

To secure the goodwill of your neighbors, you must allow them to stake all their cows and horses in the roads where grass is growing, even if the public is compelled to go around a block in order to keep from becoming tangled up in the ropes.

I have omitted many important things, but anyone you meet can supply such information and you will not even be troubled to ask, for the people are generous and you will soon find out that any and every one knows more about the road business than you do.

Hoping the Honorable Supervisors and Road Foreman will live through their respective terms, and praying that the good Lord will extend you His mercy, I am,

Yours truly,

E. D. GOODE, Ex-Road Foreman,
Los Angeles Road District.

PRESS SUPT.

INSPECTION DAY.

Miss Waite Gives Formal Opening.

Friday, January 29th, was the day given for formal inspection by patrons and friends of the new Sixth street school and the building was crowded with guests from two until five. A reception committee, including several of the mothers of pupils and the wives of the trustees stood in the main hall and directed guests to the various parts of the building. Decorations consisted of a simple arrangement of "Ard E'en" poinsettias, and palms, as the idea was to show off the building rather than a great mass of flowers.

In the two west rooms punch tables were in charge of Mrs. V. Price Brown, Mrs. J. N. Metcalf, Mrs. H. Howe and Mrs. Howse at one table. At the other Mrs. J. Hunchberger, Mrs. Dominy, Mrs. A. E. Bryant and Mrs. E. U. Emery.

Rev. James Moody gave the invocation and the children, trained by Mrs. Mary Anderson and, their teachers rendered very acceptable musical numbers. In his address County Superintendent Mark Keppel commended the city, the trustees, the teachers, and kept his audience, as is usual with him, in a most happy mood. Dr. Robert Blackburn, as president of the board, welcomed all to the new building. Others on the program were Mrs. Lillian Dow, soloist, and Mrs. Gibson, pianist. Miss Ida M. Waite, as principal of the school, and her teachers, Miss Maude Howlett and Miss Lois Hatch, were responsible for the genuine success of the auspicious affair. Perhaps the happiest feature of the afternoon was the serving to so many children the dainty cakes and punch provided. Twelve gallons of pure fruit juice went into the punch and twelve hundred wafers were consumed, the children, to their great joy, being served first.

NEARER THAN SHE KNEW.

Mrs. Eliza Moore, aged eighty-three years, who visited Glendale recently accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. H. Bassingwaite, died on Friday morning in Los Angeles and on Tuesday was taken over the Santa Fe for interment in Bay City, her home for many years. Last summer Mrs. Moore visited in Prince Edwards Island and this winter went to San Diego where two sons reside. In Glendale she walked over a mile to "see the pretty streets and houses." On the day she was so suddenly taken ill she worked busily upon an oil painting. She had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for nearly seventy years, and in Bay City, where she is dearly loved, was one of the best known pioneers. Her daughter, Mrs. Bassingwaite, who has friends and relatives in Glendale, is ill in a Los Angeles hospital. While here, Mrs. Moore, reverently expressed the wish that she might live always among blossoms such as she loaded her arms with in the California sunshine that "makes one feel so near Heaven!" The sweet, talented visitor was nearer than she knew, that beautiful day she spent so happily in Glendale.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT.

In spite of threatening inclemency of the weather on Wednesday night, "Living Pictures" was an undoubted success, owing largely to the good generalship and tact of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who directed the entertainment as given under auspices of the L. A. S. of First Presbyterian church. A big audience crowded the Masonic hall, and gave generous applause to the various beautiful pictures. The curtains and draperies used were furnished and put up by the California Furniture Company, and electricians and carpenters and deft hands of decorators did the rest. Glendale should be proud of such a galaxy of performers who so well looked and acted their parts. Supplementary to the pictures was the music, each number descriptive of the picture shown. The soloists were much appreciated, and those rendering instrumental and string music executed their work brilliantly. Under Mrs. Mary Anderson the splendid High School orchestra received merited attention and outbursts of applause. Socially, financially and as a "thing of beauty and a joy forever" the entire affair was a success.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

The traveling trowel first sent out by Justice Lodge, New York, in its itinerary through Southern California, reached Glendale Tuesday night, accompanied by the master and officers of Southern California lodge, and Unity Lodge extended to them a royal welcome.

Felicitous fraternity and good fellowship was the theme of the speeches and later a fine banquet followed at the country club house.

A HOLD-UP

A Glendale Man Has Some Experience with a Highwayman

On Friday evening of last week as Mr. E. F. Kober, of the firm of Kober & Tarr, was driving homeward from Eagle Rock valley, he had an experience with a highwayman which ended much more harmlessly than those things sometimes do. Just after getting to the top of the slight hill which separates Glendale from Eagle Rock on the road along which is the route of the new car line, a man jumped down from the bank alongside the road, grabbed the horse's bridle and covering Mr. Kober with a pistol, gave the stereotyped command "throw up your hands." Mr. Kober states that being without experience with highwaymen, he is not posted as to the etiquette demanded on such occasions, and in his ignorance of the proper thing to do, failed to obey the command. When it was issued a second time, Mr. Kober began to argue the question and even offered to divide with the hobo, which offer was indignantly declined, the highwayman demanding that he hand it all over and do it quick.

What might have happened can only be left to conjecture, for about that time the horse started forward and the highwayman turning to stop the animal, forgot to attend to his intended victim at the same time, leaving Mr. Kober to rise to the occasion, which he did by emitting a blood-curdling yell that apparently froze all the nerves in the hobo's body except those controlling his locomotion, and with a jump that would make a high school athlete look feeble by comparison, he started like a streak of lightning for the indefinite East where he has no doubt arrived long ago, for he has not been heard from since, although Mr. Kober would be immensely relieved to get a postal from him announcing that he survives the shock.

FREE DELIVERY MAIL SERVICE.

Free delivery of mails went into effect in Glendale and portions of Tropico on Monday, Feb. 1st. Postmaster Asa V. Fancet having resigned, Mr. Magee was appointed by Postmaster Flint of Los Angeles as superintendent of Glendale delivery, as the local office is now technically a branch of the Los Angeles office. For all practical purposes it is still the Glendale postoffice, however, and mail should be addressed to Glendale as heretofore, with the addition of the street number. Los Angeles has no part in the address. As far as the public is concerned the only change noticeable is in the additional benefits of free delivery which, while at present confined to the more densely settled portions of Glendale and Tropico, will be gradually extended as circumstances require. Two carriers are at present engaged, but it is possible that there will be an addition to this force which does not seem adequate to cover the territory. Mr. Magee is making every effort to accommodate the patrons of the office and there is every reason to believe that the new system will work out greatly to the advantage of the community. A representative of the free delivery department of the Los Angeles postoffice is in Glendale temporarily until the new machinery gets into working order. Miss May Fanset retains the place in the office which she has occupied since her father became postmaster.

OPENING OF THE EPISCOPAL PARISH HOUSE.

The opening of the Episcopal Parish house next Thursday evening, is an event that promises to be celebrated in an interesting manner and the ladies who have the affair in charge are hoping to make it a memorable occasion. Supper is to be served from 6 to 8, the bill of fare being one to tempt the average mortal to depart from temperate ways, although he will not be compelled to do so.

After supper there will be an informal musical program and something said appropriate to the occasion. Supper tickets will be 35 cents.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

Regular services next Sunday. The pastor will preach in the morning. Dr. Thompson of Los Angeles will preach in the evening. He should have a large congregation. Twenty-seven have united with the church since October. You are invited to all the services of the church.

J. F. HUMPHREY, Pastor.

FINE MUSIC.

The Nowland-Hunter Trio presented a program of unquestioned excellence at the Friday Morning Club last week, opening the brilliant program with a Chaminade number. Several music lovers from Glendale were in attendance. Mr. Nowland and Mr. Hunter are at present residents of North Glendale.

GLENDALE, CAL., FEBRUARY 6, 1909.

Supervisor Pridham has asked the Tropico Improvement Association to appoint an advising committee to assist the road-maker in his duties. We suggest the creation of a board of advisors to advise the advising board who advise the road foreman; but we won't press the matter.

The Fraternal Champions have come to grief; the organization having accummulated liabilities sufficient to swamp it. But the irrepressible Dandy still lives and will no doubt continue to work credulous mortals who want to get something for nothing and put their good dollars into concerns that their judgment, if not experience, should show them to be unsound.

We came out from Los Angeles the other evening on a Pacific Electric car carrying 119 passengers. The people of Tropico have petitioned for an extra car at 8:20 in the evening as the Los Angeles bound car is always full when it reaches that place. Standing room only seems to be the rule on some of the morning and evening cars. It seems to be time for an incerase in the accommodations in car service on the Pacific Electric for Glendale and Tropico patrons.

POETRY—AN APPRECIATION.

A Hollywood editor criticised without due respect a poem submitted by a subscriber, with the result that the irate poet invaded the editorial sanctum and did things, or attempted to do them to the editor. Now we submit that this establishes a bad precedent. Editors have rights which even poets ought to respect. We have published poems in the NEWS which at the time we did not believe to be quite up to the standard of Shakespeare, or Kipling. But in the light of the Hollywood incident, we wish to state unequivocally that they were great poems. We expect to turn loose upon an appreciative public some other and similar effusions in the future—in fact whenever our subscribers insist upon it, and we hereby declare in advance that we shall accept the poet's opinion of his own verses—even though they be such as to make the angels weep! We don't want this editorial sanctum to be made a "rough house" when a few timely words of appreciation can prevent it. Bring on your poetry!

THE LIGHT QUESTION.

The problem of lighting our streets is one that must be solved soon. Without street lights we will continue to be in the country village class. The city trustees, we are glad to notice, are alive to the situation; they have been investigating the subject by means of committees and have secured considerable information. In proceeding slowly they have, we believe, acted wisely. The matter has been put before the people in the form of a circular making two propositions and these are now before the community for consideration. The trustees are anxious to have an informal expression of opinion from the people, as they are unwilling to stand sponsors for any scheme unless there seems to be a very evident demand for it. The question of municipal ownership is an alluring one, but there are several things to be taken into serious consideration before we decide to attempt it. Up to the present time that system has probably scored as many failures as successes. Like about everything else in the world, it is neither good nor bad in itself, circumstances may make it either one or the other. At present we are without any positive opinion as to what is the best thing for Glendale to do in this matter. In the hope of our being able to solve the problem satisfactorily, we invite suggestions from our patrons and will be glad to publish their opinions.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Before another issue of this paper appears, the centennial of the birth of the greatest American of them all will have been celebrated. On the 16th of February, 1809, Abraham Lincoln was born. The span of his mortal life reached back and came within ten years of touching that of his only rival, whenever the question arises: "Who is the greatest American?" Washington and Lincoln are two names inseparably connected wherever our history is known. But the fame of both is secure and became upon their death an inheritance of the ages. But Lincoln comes up always in our thoughts, most nearly to our ideal of greatness. He was not a creature of circumstances; he triumphed over an environment in his early life which would have doomed him to obscurity if there had not been within him the divine attribute of genius. Not without training, for his life had been one of self-development of his intellect, but entirely without previous experience in the exercise of power over men, he was placed in a position of responsibility perhaps unequalled in the history of the world. But he never faltered, as far as the world could discern, keeping right on in the high course which his almost infallible wisdom pointed out, upheld by a supreme faith in his destiny and in the God of the people whom he loved. Others who were looked up to as leaders in the nation, faltered and proved as weak as water, but he kept true to his single purpose of saving the union and moved on steadily to glorious triumph. There was no room for littleness or jealousy in his great nature and those who were envious of his fame while living, did full justice to it when he passed away. As long as the name of Lincoln survives upon the pages of history, it will be an inspiration to the generations that will come and play their little part upon life's fitful stage.

"So he grew up a destined work to do,
And lived to do it; four long suffering years;
Ill fate, ill feeling, ill report lived through,
And then he heard the hisses change to cheers."

ASSEMBLYMAN DREW AND THE JAPANESE.

We have a great deal of regard for Assemblyman Drew, of Fresno. His record in previous legislatures is one of conservatism and good sense. But in regard to his advocacy of anti-Japanese legislation, we believe it is a case of a good man gone wrong. In a letter quoted in last week's NEWS, he says: "There is nothing in my bill which should be considered as 'anti-Japanese' legislation. It is true that the influx of Japanese into the state of California has caused the introduction of the bill, but it should have been enacted thirty years ago when Japan placed the same law upon her statute books." We do not believe that Japan has a similar law; it is true that aliens are not allowed in Japan to acquire title to land in fee simple, but it is also a fact that they are permitted to acquire leases having a life of ninety-nine years. There is no such provision in Mr. Drew's measure; on the contrary as amended at the behest of President Roosevelt, no alien can hold any realty longer than five years, the discrimination against the Japanese consisting in the fact that they will not become citizens while other aliens can within the five-year limit, make good their citizenship. His assertion in regard to the land laws of Great Britain is entirely wrong. He says, "You cannot anywhere under the British flag acquire territory unless you swear allegiance to the Crown of England."

We copy from Whitaker's Almanac, a recognized authority in such matters, the following in regard to the status of aliens in Great Britain:

"Real and personal property of every description may be taken, acquired, held and disposed of by an alien in the same manner in all respects as by a natural born British subject." This law does not apply, however, to the colonies; a fact which may have misled Mr. Drew. While President Roosevelt has said in effect that he does not object to legislation which prohibits aliens from acquiring land in the United States, Secretary Root expresses himself very clearly as deprecating any legislation of this kind by the states, as it is very likely to conflict with treaties entered into by the national authorities. Our state legislators seem disposed to forget that California is still a state of the union, and that the paramount authority of the Federal government was settled some years ago in a manner that closed the question which was at one time open for debate. When it becomes necessary for California to be protected against foreign invasion, peaceful or otherwise, the federal government can be depended upon to perform that duty. Meantime the attempt of a state on the Pacific Coast, or elsewhere, to take action contrary to the wishes of the authorities of the general government, can only be mischievous and dangerous. Indeed the government at Washington has already done all this. Twenty-five or thirty years ago there was a great outcry in this state over the question of Chinese immigration, and demagogues ranted from sand lots and elsewhere all over the state about the perils of "Chinese cheap labor." But the peril never materialized. Exclusion laws, agreeable to both nations concerned were enacted and treaties concluded which checked the alleged "invasion" and have so far at least kept up from becoming a Chinese colony! Similar treaties have been secured with Japan, and there is today no more danger of our being overrun by the Japanese than there is of our being inundated by an influx of Martians.

The spectacle of a small bunch of California legislators who cannot see beyond the Sierra Nevadas, assuming to dictate to the general government in matters of foreign policy, is discouraging to the Californian who still endeavors to hope against hope that sometime California will produce a real statesman.

Since the above was written the assembly has turned down Mr. Drew's bill in regard to alien land owners, but has passed the infinitely more mischievous one in regard to segregating them in public schools.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The Boys' Basketball team are to play for the championship of Southern California. The date will probably be February 13, and it is hoped that the game may be held here. If successful in this the semi-final game, the team will have one more game to play before the championship is finally determined.

A sharp contest was held at the High School last Thursday for the selection of a representative for the big "Examiner" contest. Owen Rhodes was finally chosen to represent the school.

The successful candidate says that he hopes to work through the different grammar schools as well as the High School and wishes the support of the "Examiner" subscribers.

The girls of the High School will give a stunt party at the Odd Fellows' hall on Saturday night of this week. The attendance will be limited strictly to the female element of the school and their friends. Each girl is allowed one guess. The nature of the affair is being kept a secret but as the committee in charge have admitted that it will be a fancy dress party, it promises to be full of fun.

Glendale basket ball team plays the Fullerton team in Glendale next Wednesday in the semi-finals.

EDEN-DALE-SAN FERNANDO.

January 29 the girls' basketball team played their last league game with San Fernando. The Fernando team was clearly outplayed, not making one field goal through the entire game. Clarence Emery was to be the referee, but as he was unable to be present, Mr. Paxton of Los Angeles proved himself very efficient after he had swept the court of pebbles. At the end of the game, the Glendale girls were given a nice supper at the expense of the Fernando team, returning home about 9 p. m., after having spent a very enjoyable day. The score was 29-3 in favor of Glendale.

Line-up: Forwards, Pearl Goode, Alma Stone; guards, Lois Graham, Emily Ellias; centers, Ruth Farrel, R.), Bertha Hopkins, (J.); substitute, Ella Tipton.

THE STYLUS.

The High School girls have a new war cry; "Who's the style? Us." This is the new paper just sprung upon the people of this vicinity by the pupils of our High School. And it is all right as a literary product and in typographical aspect—just as good as the it wasn't printed at home, by the way. Two or three of the contributions are worthy of space in much more pretentious periodicals, as they possess real literary merit and reflect much honor upon the authors. All of the work shows a consciencious effort to attain as near perfection as an infant in the journalistic world can properly aspire to, and success is the result. The editors and contributors are deserving of sincere congratulations, which we hereby extend to our young contemporary: "May you live long and prosper."

MRS. THORNTON ENTERTAINS.

One of the social successes of the week was the Five Hundred party arranged and given by Mrs. Thos. Thornton of North Glendale, on Wednesday afternoon, from two until five. The charming rooms were bright and fragrant in an artistically effective arrangement of Princess violets and of pink "Lovely" and white "Purity" long-stemmed sweet peas, combined with delicate greenery. Twelve members of an exclusive little social set sat down to the game, which finished with Mrs. Balthis holding the highest score. To her fell the handsome first prize, the consolation falling to Miss Stocker.

During the afternoon Miss Helen Stocker delighted all with four musical selections that were much appreciated.

The Iowa Association will hold its annual picnic this year at Agricultural Park, Los Angeles, on February 22d. Should the weather be bad, it will be postponed until Saturday following. Iowans are requested to note the change in place of holding the meeting. Take yellow cars going south on Main street or the University cars going south on Spring street or the green cars going west on Third and south on Hill.

BULLETIN OF PROGRESS.

Published by The California Promotion Committee.

January 31, 1908.

General prosperity all over California is noted by the reports received by The California Promotion Committee. The heavy rains of January, while doing some damage along the immediate vicinity of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, have brought incalculable benefit to the agricultural interests of the state, and pressage heavy crops of all kinds.

Reports from Eastern financial centers show increased interest in all California industrial and municipal securities, special interest being shown in the forthcoming sale of San Francisco bonds on February 8. A much better sentiment prevails regarding such securities than has been previously noted for many years.

Estimates on population throughout the state indicate a steady and healthy growth, especially in the agricultural districts, and reports from all centers whence immigration may be expected are to the effect that the coming summer will be noted for a steady stream of settlers into California. Increased inquiry for information regarding the state is noted, and there is an exceptionally strong demand for literature showing the advantages of different localities. This demand is so strong that The Committee finds it difficult to keep in supply of county literature.

Special interest is now being taken in California by travelers for pleasure, who have come to know of the climatic advantages, and a large number of the inquiries received by The Committee is from people who desire to include the state in their tourist itinerary.

The following summary gives California conditions from December 29 to January 28, inclusive:

January 31, 1909.

San Francisco Customs receipts	$ 557,131.52
San Francisco Real Estate Sales, 650; value..	2,500,000.00

A Reasonable Excuse.

"Bridget," said Mrs. Subbubs sternly, "breakfast is half an hour late again."

"Yis, mim," returned Bridget meekly.

"What excuse have you to offer? You know I told you that Mr. Subbubs must catch that early train, and punctuality at breakfast is absolutely necessary," said the lady.

"Sure an' Oi overshlep' mesilf," said Bridget.

"That is no excuse," said the mistress. "I gave you an alarm clock only yesterday."

"Oi know that, mim."

"Did you wind it up?"

"Oi did."

"And didn't it go off?"

"Sure an' it did that. It made a tarrible n'ise."

"Then why didn't you get up?"

"Sure, mim," responded Bridget tearfully, "it was that t'ing that's made all the throuble. Oi niver shlep' a wink all night waitin' for it to go off, an' whin it did Oi was that toired Oi couldn't move."—Harper's Weekly.

To Cure Wrinkles.

"Look at a paralytic if you think wrinkles incurable," said a beauty doctor. "On the side he is paralyzed all his wrinkles disappear. Though he be sixty or seventy, his profile on that side is the profile of a youth. So the paralytic shows us how to cure our wrinkles—namely, by keeping our facial muscles still. If we keep our faces in perfect repose, never laughing when the comedian sings his best song, never weeping when wife or sweetheart dies, we will have no wrinkles whatever. The skin wouldn't wrinkle if it were not exposed. The skin of the body is much disturbed by action of the muscles underneath—as at the knee, for instance—yet this unexposed skin never wrinkles. Not being exposed to the bad influence of sun and wind, it has not lost the oil and the elasticity of childhood. And that's where I come in with my creams and unguents and massages."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Taming Patti.

Patti was to sing on a certain date at Bucharest, but at the last moment she declined to leave Vienna. It was too cold; snow everywhere; she would not risk catching her death of cold. M. Schurmann, the impresario, was in despair until a brilliant inspiration came to him. Quickly he telegraphed to the advance agent in the Roumanian capital: "At whatever cost Patti must receive an ovation at Bucharest station from the Italian aristocracy. Send me by return the following wire: 'The members of the Italian and Roumanian nobility are preparing to give Mme. Patti a magnificent reception. The ministry will be represented. Processions, torches and bands. Telegraph the hour of arrival.'" The advance agent carried out this instruction, and when the telegram dictated to him over the wires arrived in Vienna it was handed to Patti, with the desired effect. "How charming!" she murmured. "What time do we start?"

His Wonderful Invention.

Australia, as is well known, is infested with rabbits, a most destructive and multitudinous pest. Not long ago a man invented the following plan:

You go out into the field from which the rabbits are to be removed. You saw down a tree, and on the slant of the stump you paint a black spot. Then you keep very quiet, so that the rabbits will come back from their burrows and feed as usual. When a large enough number has collected you clap your hands sharply. The effect will be electric. The rabbits will jump in haste for their burrows. At least one is sure to mistake the black spot for his hole and make for it. Invariably he will dash his brains out. This process, repeated often enough, is warranted to exterminate the rabbit forever.

The reports do not say whether there are any rabbits left in Australia.

Twin Place.

One day an old gentleman who found the Java village at the World's fair very absorbing at length confided in a young man standing near. "It's powerful nice to watch," he said, "but I may say I should be better on't if I was a trifle better posted. My jography's a leetle rusty, and it's truth and fact that I don't jestly know whese Java is. Now, where is it?"

"Oh," said the young man, with the assured quiet of one who knows, "just a little way from Mocha!"—Argonaut.

Making It Easier.

Little Jean's dolly had met with an accident, and her mother had procured a new head for it. The removal of the old head proved to be a rather difficult task, which Jean watched with great interest.

"I'm afraid, Jean, I can't get this old head off," said the mother.

Jean's face glowed with the light of an inspiration as she said:

"Never mind, mamma; just take the body off."

A Teaser.

"There is one subject on which it is difficult to keep up interest?"

"What particular subject is that on which it is difficult to keep up interest?"

"The mortgage of my house."

To the Point.

Elderly Aunt—I suppose you wondered, dear little Hans, why I left you so abruptly in the lane. I saw a man, and, oh, how I ran! Hans—Did you get him?—Fliegende Blatter.

Knew His Limitations.

"I proph'sied he'd make a living," Mr. Hobart said, speaking of a New York painter who spent a summer at his farm, "because he knew what he could do, little as 'twas, and didn't try to fly too high.

"Yes," Mr. Hobart continued, with a thoughtful smile, "you couldn't get him to attempt any foolish flights. All that summer he set out in the hen yard, painting hens, or else out back o' the barn, painting pigs. And when I said to him, 'Look a-here, when Abe Fowler comes to paint the house I'll get him to show you how and let you take a hack at the side end, where 'twon't show so much and allow it off your board,' he just shook his head and smiled that kind o' gentle, sorrowful smile o' his, and says he: 'I couldn't think of it, Mr. Hobart. I should just ruin the looks o' the house. I'll keep to the pigs and the hens, for I know my limitations.'

"Well, 'twas a real relief to me, for I suppose likely he would have botched the job consid'able. And I said to him then real hearty, 'Young man, you'll earn your living yet, for you ain't all et up with pride and ambition,' and my words have come true, by what I hear."—Youth's Companion.

The Retort Final.

The garrulous old lady in the stern of the boat had pestered the guide with her comments and questions ever since they had started. Her meek little husband, who was bunched toad-like in the bow, fished in silence. The old lady seemingly exhausted every possible point in fish and animal life, woodcraft and personal history when she suddenly espied one of those curious paths of oily, unbroken water frequently seen on small lakes which are ruffled by a light breeze.

"Oh, guide, guide," she exclaimed, "what makes that funny streak in the water? No, there—right over there!"

The guide was busy rebaiting the old gentleman's hook and merely mumbled, "U-m-mm."

"Guide," repeated the old lady in tones that were not to be denied, "look right over there where I'm pointing and tell me what makes that funny streak in the water."

The guide looked up from his baiting, with a sigh.

"That? Oh, that's where the road went across the ice last winter."—Everybody's Magazine.

Emerson's Memory.

Emerson was a notable sufferer from the vagaries of memory. His biographer relates that he met him one day in Boston apparently at a loss for something and asked him where he was going. "To dine," said Emerson, "with a very old and dear friend. I know where she lives, but I hope she won't ask me her name." And then he proceeded to describe her as "the mother of the wife of the young man—the tall man—who speaks so well," and so on, until his interlocutor guessed to whom he was referring. Even the names of common objects often failed him completely. On one occasion when he wanted an umbrella he said: "I can't tell its name, but I can tell its history. Strangers take it away." This failing of Emerson led to a pathetic scene when he attended Longfellow's funeral and remarked as he gazed at the coffin, "He was a sweet and beautiful soul, but I have entirely forgotten his name."

Nero's Golden House.

The "golden house" of Nero seems from all accounts to have been the most stupendous dwelling place ever built for a mortal man. Even if we regard the ancient descriptions as somewhat exaggerated it remains one of the largest royal houses ever built, and the internal decorations seem to have been incomparably magnificent. It was surrounded by parks, woods and pools of great size, which appear to have been entirely within the walls. The colonnades of the house itself extended a mile in length and crossed one of the main thoroughfares of the city. The cities of the east were ransacked for masterpieces of Greek art for the interior. The walls shone with gold and pearls, and the roof rested on marble columns of enormous size and beauty.—New York American.

Not Bull Run.

The story was told of an American who happened to be crossing the ocean some years ago on the Fourth of July, which national holiday was celebrated with great enthusiasm by the Americans on board.

"I say," asked one of the Englishmen, "what is this the anniversary of anyhow? Isn't it to celebrate the battle of Bull Run or something of that kind?"

"No," promptly spoke up an American, "not Bull Run—John Bull Run."

Takes Him Down.

"Every man has his price," quoted the wise guy.

"Well, I've noticed that a woman can generally make him feel pretty cheap," added the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record.

A Wonderful Hand.

Master—I'm sorry to hear, Pat, that your wife is dead. Patrick—Faith an' 'tis a sad day for us all, sir! The hand that rocked the cradle has kicked the bucket.

Fear and Danger.

Nervous Old Lady (to deck hand on steamboat)—Is there any fear of danger? Deck Hand (carelessly)—Plenty of fear, ma'am, but not a bit of danger.

The United States submarine tenders fly a flag with a black fish on a white background surrounded by a red border.

Husbands to Burn.

The elderly spinster in the rear of the drawing room car had no more than settled in her seat when her attention was attracted to a woman a little farther front who was garbed in the deepest mourning. As Miss Spinster adjusted her nose grabber glasses for a better inspection of the one in widow's weeds she saw the conductor lean over and converse with her earnestly for several minutes.

When the conductor got back to her seat taking the passenger's tickets Miss Spinster was consumed with curiosity about the woman in mourning.

"Conductor," she asked in her sweetest tones, "what's the trouble with the lady up there in widow's weeds?"

"Oh, that's Mrs. Gettem!" replied the obliging conductor. "She's just taking her third husband out to a crematory."

"Oh, how dreadful!" exclaimed Miss Spinster. And then in a faraway voice she added:

"And just think of it! Here I am past fifty and never had a husband in my life, while that woman up there has them to burn!"—New York Times.

Strong Monosyllables.

Instructors in the art of literary composition usually condemn a string of monosyllables, but in the well known hymn "Lead, Kindly Light," written by a master of the English language, you may count thirty consecutive words of one syllable only. They offend neither the eye nor the ear.

Milton often uses a series of monosyllables. In the second book of "Paradise Lost" we have:

> The fiend
> O'er bog or steep, through strait, rough, dense or rare,
> With head, hands, wings or feet pursues his way
> And swims or sinks or wades or creeps or flies.

Such lines are not uncommon in the book:

> Rocks, caves, lakes, fens, bogs, dens and shades of death.

And again:

> Of neither sea nor shore nor air nor fire.

—London Notes and Queries.

Courtship in Ireland.

An Irish boy marries when he has a rid house and an Irish girl just when she pleases. Sometimes she so pleases while yet her years are few; at other times she is content to wait upon wisdom. In the latter case, of course, she makes a wise choice, but in the former almost always a lucky one, for luck is the guardian angel of the Irish.

"You're too young to marry yet, Mary," the mother said when Mary pleaded that she should grant Laurence O'Mahony a particular boon.

"If you only have patience, mother, I'll cure meself of that fault," was Mary's reply.

"And she's never been used to work, Laurence," the mother said to the suitor discouragingly.

"If you only have patience, ma'am," was Laurence's reply to this, "I'll cure her of that fault." And he did too.—Seumas MacManus in Lippincott's.

The Nervous Mother.

An Atchison woman who is very nervous and inclined to worry is the mother of a boy. She recently read of a boy who was killed while roller skating and immediately put her son's roller skates in the fire. Another newspaper told of a boy who was killed riding the street cars, and as boys are frequently killed while walking by street cars running over them she chained her boy to the front door. Then she read of a boy who died of blood poisoning caused by his shoe rubbing his heel, and her boy's shoes and stockings came off. The story of a boy who bit off a button on his waist and choked to death resulted in her taking off her boy's clothes. He had left only a flannel shirt, and she is reading now that wearing flannel shirts is the cause of great mortality and is thinking of removing that.—Atchison Globe.

The Bloom on the Egg.

"I know these eggs at least are fresh," said the young housewife. "As I took them from the basket a white bloom, like the down of a peach, came off on my hands."

Her husband, a food expert, gave a sneering laugh.

"In that case," he said, "I'll forego my usual morning omelette. That bloom, my dear, proves your eggs to be a year or so old—maybe four or five years old.

"The bloom, as you so poetically call it, is lime dust. It shows that the eggs are pickled. Lime dust, which rubs off like flour, is the surest test we have for pickled eggs—a not unwholesome article, but not to be compared with the new laid sort."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Riddle.

Here is a strange riddle which we have never met before. It is sent us by a friend from Jhansi, India:

Divide 150 by 0. Add two-thirds of 10. So ends the riddle.

Here is the answer: CoLENSO.

C—100.

L—50.

EN—two-thirds of TEN.

SO—ends the riddle.—London Scraps.

Changeable Names.

"Well, I ought to be. Pa takes me out in the wood shed and straps me three or four times a week."—Harper's Weekly.

A CORRECTION.

In last week's issue of the Glendale News there appeared "an open letter" addressed to me. I have nothing to say respecting the issues discussed in that article. However I have my convictions respecting them. In this article it is said I took occasion "to rather slur or speak slightingly of the Socialists." In the first place, I never "slur" any one. I profess to be a better man than that. In the second place, I will leave it to the 250 people who heard me speak that night, if I am not right in saying that I did not "slur" the Socialists nor speak in the vein as represented in that article. The brother evidently entirely misunderstood what I said.

Very respectfully,
J. F. HUMPHREY.
